Westerly School Superintendent

Addresses State Institute of Instruction-Spanish War Soldiers to Contribute to Memorial Statue-Auto Campaign of Democratic State Candidates-Three Men in Jealous Quarrel.

William H, Holmes, superintendent police station Saturday afternoon. Up-Westerly schools, the retiring pres-on examination he was adjudged in-nt of the Rhode Island Institute of sane and committed to the state hosident of the Rhode Island Institute of Instruction, in his annual address spoke on "How shall we increase the efficiency of public schools in Rhode Island". He declared that by concentrated effort in the institute much could be done. He said: "Rhode Island should be proud that its traching force is on a higher standard than in many other New England states; but this did not mean that there is not the first the state hospital.

There was a lively fight on the balcony of the third story of a Pierce street house, Saturday night, in which three men participated. During the tracas, two of the fighters fell over the passed providing courses that will give

Legislation should also provide that teachers now working should be given a year's leave of alsence to attend school to get this degree. This absence should be on haif-pay after seven years of faithful service. Regarding the supervision of schools, Dr. Holmes asked:

"Tat't it time that Rhode Island should make skilled supervision mandatory" The time that Rhode Island should make skilled supervision mandatory?" He also made reference to the common drinking cup and to the fact that one of the cities in the state, which is foremost in opening open-air schools, still leaves the cup around to pass tuberculosis or any other kind of serms from one pupil to another."

The resolutions adopted at the institute include a reaffirmation of that of last year against excessive theater going by children. The institute also recommended securing legislation to
